The quais of the Seine : the trap awaiting motorists

Traffic may be seriously delayed by Climespace's upcoming construction work along the quays of the right bank between the Place de la Concorde (1e) and the Hôtel de Ville (4e).

A City of Paris concessionaire since 1991 and a subsidiary of the Engie group (formerly GDF-Suez), the company produces and distributes iced water for air conditioning of buildings in the heart of Paris. More than 600 businesses are powered by Climespace, representing 5 million m² of air-conditioned space. Air conditioning in department stores? That's them. The slight breeze that cools down restaurants? Them again. Climespace has a 72 km underground network in the capital, and work due to begin in the coming weeks will include connecting La Samaritaine to the Climespace plant near the Grand Palais.
